Developmental Center Overview

Ohio's 10 Developmental Centers (DCs) located throughout the state serve approximately 1100 citizens with mental retardation and other developmental disabilities. Each of these Centers is certified as an Intermediate Care Facility for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities (ICF/IID) by the federal Medicaid program, signifying its compliance with mandated standards governing the care, training and environment it provides to its residents. The Centers are also licensed by the Ohio Department of Developmental Disabilities.

DC staff support individuals who require comprehensive program, medical, behavioral and residential services, and assure that an array of choices ensure that each resident may experience a life of increasing capabilities and independence. DCs provide all Ohio counties with regional resources to assist individuals if they wish to remain in their community homes, and may provide short term admissions to assist in the stabilization of behavioral and medical events to help individuals return to their homes in the community as soon as possible. Centers are a part of an extensive outreach network with the 88 county boards of developmental disabilities.. Centers provide such services as case consultation, staff training and short term admissions.

Cambridge Developmental Center

The Cambridge Developmental Center (CaDC) is an Intermediate Care Facility, which operates five homes serving approximately 92 adults with developmental disabilities. CaDC is situated in a valley surrounded by wooded hills, accented by a small stream that runs through the center's grounds with a variety of wildlife to enjoy. The majority of people who reside at CaDC are diagnosed with severe and profound developmental disabilities and need extensive supports in the areas of daily living, health care, vocational and social skills development.

The people who live at CaDC are encouraged to be as independent as possible and care for their home by performing the duties of housekeeping, laundry, gardening and cooking with as much self-determination as possible. Also, primary focus is placed upon teaching the basic activities of daily living and facilitating individuals to make choices regarding their life plan.

Each person who lives at CaDC is supported by well-trained staff who promote an environment that enables each person to learn and grow. Staffing includes therapeutic program workers, residential managers, program specialists, nursing, psychology personnel, and other ancillary professionals. CaDC's programs are also supported by volunteers who donate their time and energy to further enrich the lives of others.

Columbus Developmental Center

The Columbus Developmental Center (CDC) was established August 3, 1857, as the Ohio Asylum for the Education of Idiotic and Imbecilic Youth. The Center was moved to its current location in 1867 due to the increasing demand for admission and to be located on farming property away from the expanding city. Today, CDC is the state's oldest continuously operated facility for the disabled. CDC is situated on a 92-acre campus. Through Ohio's commitment to capital planning and improvement, today's residences have been modernized to better meet the needs of those residing at the facility. Each house is home for 16 to 32 individuals with a total campus census of approximately 95 residents.

Although a few of the center's individuals are retired, most are employed in some capacity by community programs operated and/or funded by the Franklin County Board of DD. In the philosophy of community inclusion, the center focuses on getting each individual involved in various vocational endeavors. The individuals are very active at home and in their neighborhood.

The active treatment components of the center are integral to the personal growth and development of each of the individuals residing at the center. Programs include physical development, social growth, behavioral stability, and personal daily living skills training. These programs and therapies combine into a systematic effort by all staff members to increase the skills that individuals need to function as independently as possible. It is through the caring efforts of staff that the individuals living at the center participate fully in healthy, happy lives.

Gallipolis Developmental Center

The Gallipolis Developmental Center (GDC) sits on an Ohio River plateau within the historic city of Gallipolis. It has a beautiful tree-lined campus that was the location of a union civil war hospital. In 1890, it became the site of the first and largest facility in the nation providing services to persons with epilepsy. As the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, it continued to grow and prosper greatly through the following four decades. In 1950, the name was changed to the "Gallipolis State Institute". In 1961, it served as the home for 2,358 Ohio citizens with illnesses ranging from epilepsy and retardation to mental health.

On April 18, 1979, the first four new residential buildings were dedicated. The four new 18-bed living areas were representative of a new philosophy for the care and training of the mentally retarded. When the capital plan for the balance of the new buildings was complete, the center's physical plant would be eligible for certification under the Federal Medicaid Program. On September 7, 1979, it became known as GDC. Since 1977, millions of dollars in capital improvements have transformed GDC into the modern facility it is today.

GDC is currently the home for approximately 155 individuals. The center continues to provide comprehensive services in a wide variety of professional services. The majority of the individuals spend their daytime hours participating in off-campus work/habilitative activities provided through an agreement with Riverview Productions. In addition, a 35,000 square foot activity center is an on-grounds location for habilitation, recreation, work readiness, and therapeutic training for remaining individuals.

Montgomery Developmental Center

Montgomery Developmental Center (MDC) is a residential training Center and home to approximately 95 adults with developmental disabilities. The 18-acre campus is located in Montgomery County in the city of Huber Heights. MDC consists of six brick, ranch-style residential homes, a service building, a maintenance shop, the administration building, and one home which houses staff from Advocacy & Protective Services, Inc. (APSI). Along with a medical clinic and administrative offices, the administration building houses an indoor pool; a bird aviary; a conference center; an activity room; our family visitation room, "Bradley's Room," and the newly renovated "Coffee Spot."

MDC offers a lot of indoor activities throughout the year, including games, sports, arts and crafts, dances, parties, special activities, church services, swimming, socialization in the Coffee Spot, and special parties on all of the major holidays.

In addition to the recreational/social opportunities offered at the Center, community involvement continues to be an important aspect of training and development for MDC residents. The Huber Heights community continues to show their support as our residents shop in local department stores and grocery stores, and access other aspects of the Huber Heights community such as local parks, bowling, hair salons, restaurants, and movies.

MDC is extremely fortunate to have many community members who volunteer their time and resources through special projects, donations, and personal contact with the individuals who live at the Center. For the past two years, folks from GE Aviation have been volunteering at MDC, helping out with special activities and donating to the Giving Tree.

Mount Vernon Developmental Center

The Mount Vernon Developmental Center (MVDC) sits amidst 310 acres in central Knox County. The campus consists of six residential buildings containing six living areas. As you come in the main entrance, “Independence Square”, Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson Cottage, is home to sixteen persons each. Further up the hill are Jones and Snyder Cottages, serving 32 persons each and Rian Hall with 1, 5-bed unit sits further up the road atop the hill. MVDC’s services are focused and adapted to the needs of its residents, most of whom have multiple physical and medical needs. Over half of the individuals are non-ambulatory, 66% are over the age of 51 and 86% function in the ‘severe’ to ‘profound’ range of disability. The center provides two day habilitation programs, a vocational program and a number of individuals participate in day/vocational program offered by private providers in the community. The Physical Health and Education Building offers a pool and gym for social, recreational and therapeutic activities.

Individuals participate in numerous off-campus social and recreational activities and are fortunate to have a campus that offers the exposure to nature and opportunities for activities including fishing and boat rides on the pond, walking the many paths and trails throughout the center, working in the gardens or just relaxing and watching the natural surroundings.

MVDC is one of the larger employers in Knox County and is an active member of the Knox County community, providing support and technical assistance to county boards, providers and families in the central/east section of the state.

Northwest Ohio Developmental Center

The Northwest Ohio Developmental Center (NODC) is located in the city of Toledo, within Lucas County, near the state of Ohio's northern border. NODC was dedicated in November of 1976 and the first individual was admitted in January 1977.

NODC currently serves approximately 117 individuals with developmental disabilities. These individuals live within eight attractive, comfortable, and modern living units. Nearly all individuals in residence spend their daytime hours participating in off-campus vocational/habilitative activities provided through the Lucas County Board of DD or are employed through community jobs.

During the past year, NODC continued to provide a variety of services to those living at the center, while assisting the community in specific areas of support through the regional resource program. This has also been accomplished while continuing to address census management and cost effectiveness.

Southwest Ohio Developmental Center

Southwest Ohio Developmental Center (SODC) borders the village of Batavia, Ohio, which is approximately 30 minutes from downtown Cincinnati. Located in Clermont County, SODC residents and employees benefit from the resources of a metropolitan area and the serenity of rural Ohio.

The center is located on a beautifully landscaped 43-acre site that is modern in design and operation. There are seven modern cottages the residents call home along with a central building on the grounds of SODC. Each cottage is an individually decorated and personalized living environment and is equipped with all of the things to make a house a home. The central building has a small gymnasium, game room, fitness room and other areas where residents enjoy the SODC “family” together. During the week most people work at the Clermont Board of DD and local Goodwill. SODC residents participate as active members of the area communities for everyday things like banking, shopping, and entertainment Reds and Cyclones games. SODC residents are offered a variety of on campus activities to include dances, church, sporting events, sleepovers in the gym and crafts.

SODC works very closely with the surrounding communities providing a regional support that includes training and assessments along with the primary resource of residential services. SODC management is committed to efficiency and cost effectiveness while ensuring that each resident receives the highest standard of care.

Tiffin Developmental Center

Located in Seneca County, Tiffin Developmental Center (TDC) is listed in the Department of Interior, National Park Service's National Register of Historic Places under the resource name "National Orphans' Home, Junior Order United American Mechanics." The Junior Order owned the property prior to it being purchased in 1944 by the State of Ohio. The National Register of Historic Places is the official list of historic properties recognized by the federal government as worthy of preservation for their local, state, or national significance in American history, architecture, archaeology, engineering, and culture.

TDC sits on a total of 644 acres, of which 351 acres are farmland and 235 acres are forest. TDC's main campus is located on the north edge of the city of Tiffin along the Sandusky River. This consists of 48 acres with 35 buildings and has the appearance of a college campus. Our census as of 12/31/12 was 110, 4 of which were short-term admissions. Number of homes is 11.

In the past year, TDC served a 14-county catchment area that is primarily rural and meets all the requirements for participation in the Medicaid Program. With family and friends residing in these nearby communities, many individuals are able to maintain close contact and enjoy the benefit of their loved ones' continued involvement in their lives.

TDC provides input and support to community providers, steering committees, and county boards of DD. One of the most important aspects of the center's mission is to continue to develop community partnerships that will systematically identify and close gaps in the larger service delivery system in order to more effectively serve the developmentally disabled citizens of Ohio.

Warrensville Developmental Center

Warrensville Developmental Center (WDC) is located in Highland Hills, Cuyahoga County, a suburb of Cleveland. Approximately 95 individuals with developmental disabilities call WDC home, residing in five houses. The campus is located on 42 acres and is conveniently located to several interstate highways, shopping, parks, an abundance of cultural and historical museums, musical venues, entertainment and several professional sports teams.

WDC serves the counties (Region 6) of Lorain, Cuyahoga, Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga, Trumbull, Summit, Portage, Medina, Ashland, Wayne, Stark, Mahoning, and Columbiana.

WDC provides housing and training to its residents with a full array of health services including a physician, a psychiatrist, nursing, OT/PT and specialists in psychology and speech therapy. There are also extensive supports in the areas of activities of daily living and social skills.

WDC residents attend seven different county board activity centers, including county operated employment enclaves and mobile crews, as well as four community based day programs. One of WDC's residents attends a community provider employment center. For the individuals not receiving adult services from Cuyahoga County, WDC recently opened an onsite alternative day program. In this program, individuals create artwork and various craft projects, participate in gardening, living skills groups, organized physical education and attend educational events both on-site and in the community.

Youngstown Developmental Center

Located in Mahoning County, Youngstown Developmental Center (YDC) is home to approximately 100 individuals with developmental disabilities. YDC shares responsibility for the counties of Region 6 with Warrensville Developmental Center. With their families and friends residing in nearby communities, many residents maintain close contact with them and enjoy the benefit of their continued involvement in their lives.

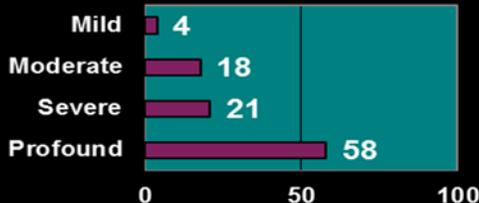

Comprised of 10 buildings on 35 acres of land, the YDC's seven residential homes blend in nicely with the surrounding neighborhood and provide the individuals living at YDC with a physical environment that is as "close to home" as possible.

Most individuals living at the center function in the profound range of mental retardation and many have medical and motor deficits as well. As with the general public, the population of our center continues to "grow older" and, as they do, experience more frequent and greater health care needs. Medical appointments, consultations, and hospitalizations continue to be provided by health care professionals in the community and the number and types of services have expanded through the years to meet the needs of our aging population.

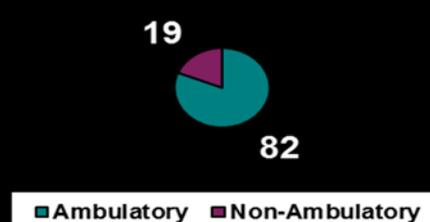

An array of services are available to meet the needs of those residing at the center. Each individual has a treatment plan that is developed by an interdisciplinary team and carried out by direct service and professional staff. Plans are individualized and designed to increase a person's independence through skill building in areas such as eating, dressing, home maintenance, and communication.
