Next in Pipeline, November 22 ... Annual Thanksgiving Issue!

Again this year we invite YOU to tell us what YOU are thankful for this year.

Please submit items for consideration by Nov. 15th to sherry.steinman@dodd.ohio.gov

A short paragraph and a photo, if appropriate, would be best. Thank you!

Here's what last year's issue included: Pipeline Volume 4 Issue 24 November 23, 2010.

1. National Family Caregivers Month Honors Many

President Barack Obama has proclaimed November to be National Family Caregivers Month, in support of family caregivers in the workplace who balance work and family caregiving responsibilities. The official Proclamation (more) states, in part, “Many of our Nation's family caregivers assist seniors and people with disabilities to help improve their quality of life. Their efforts help deliver short-term comfort and security, facilitate social engagement, and help individuals stay in their homes and communities as long as possible.” It later states,

“As we observe National Family Caregivers Month, we honor the tireless compassion of Americans who heal, comfort, and support our injured, our elders, and people with disabilities. This month and throughout the year, let the quiet perseverance of our family caregivers remind us of the decency and kindness to which we can all aspire.”

In 1994, the National Family Caregivers Association (NFCA) began promoting the recognition of family caregivers during the week of Thanksgiving. Then-President Clinton signed the first Presidential Proclamation in 1997, and every U.S. President since then has issued an annual Proclamation appreciating family caregivers. As interest grew in family caregiving issues, National Family Caregivers Week became National Family Caregivers Month.

Estimates are that more than 65 million family caregivers fulfill this vital role around the nation. No one else is in a better position to ensure continuity of care. Family caregivers are the most familiar with their care recipients' medication regimen; they are the most knowledgeable about treatment needs; and they understand any dietary or exercise recommendations that will benefit their family member.

The NFCA spotlights National Family Caregivers Month as a time to thank, support, educate, and empower family caregivers. The celebration also provides an opportunity to:

- Raise awareness of family caregiver issues
- Celebrate the efforts of family caregivers
- Educate family caregivers about self-identification
- Increase support for family caregivers

Speaking of Families – The Family Advisory Council

In Ohio, the DODD Family Advisory Council (FAC) meets regularly to discuss family caregiver issues and share ideas and concerns. At the next meeting on November 15, at Columbus Developmental Center, Hannah Wackernagle and her Mom, Hollie, will tell their story about Hannah's participation in activities at Central Crossing High School in Grove City.

See the recent story from the Columbus Dispatch: Leading the cheer for acceptance

DODD Family Advocate Peggy Martin asked the Wackernagle family to share their story and talk about their experiences in the public school system after reading the article about Hannah's cheerleading participation in the September 1, 2011 Dispatch. She comments,

"Hannah's ambition to achieve success, and her dedication to that commitment is a message for all of us. Just think what Hannah has done to bring that awareness and respect to her peers through her strong determination, and her mother's support. We are so pleased that they will speak to our Family Advisory Council on Tuesday, November 15, at 1:00 p.m."
Contact Michele Kanode at Michele.Kanode@dodd.ohio.gov for details.

Family caregivers from the Dayton area, "The Advocates," also have shared their stories with FAC members in the past. Wynema Mebane, parent advocate and long-time FAC member, has brought Dayton area family members with her to meetings, and they spoke compellingly on the subject of family caregivers, including a documentary-style video. (For more information about this video, contact The Advocates at TADV110@sbcglobal.net )

In addition, The Advocates recently hosted an "Evening of Caring and Sharing" -- a Legislative Awareness and Advocacy event in Dayton. DODD Director John Martin and several local legislators attended the event, as did many corporate and family sponsors who were involved in the program designed to recognize the work of legislators, self-advocates, and others on behalf of individuals with developmental disabilities.

At The Advocates' event, the Pledge of Allegiance was led by participant Todd Mebane (right), and the singing of the National Anthem was led by participant Essa Gombert (podium). Wynema Mebane is at left.

Reminder: Next meeting of the Family Advisory Council is November 15th.

Developmental Centers as Community Resources

2. Families Gather at GDC for Fall Festival & Provider Fair

More than 300 smiling faces involved in Gallipolis Developmental Center's (GDC) Fall Festival & Provider Fair told a story of success for this first-ever event, and cemented the idea in place for next year, according to Mike Fitch, GDC Superintendent.

The idea behind the Festival's Provider Fair was to invite the community to the GDC campus, providing an opportunity to demonstrate the Center's emphasis on integrating the residents with the community as a whole, and educating all involved regarding available community-based options and alternatives. Says Fitch,

"GDC has been here for 150 years. It is surprising how many people in the community have not been here. Activities like this Festival can open the way to awareness and understanding."

Event attendees included Gallia County Commissioners, area residential and day service providers from several regions in Ohio, Superintendents from several County Boards and Developmental Centers, many neighbors, and family members of GDC residents. There was even an event kick-off parade! Putting the fun in the Festival were more than 25 booths, including face painting, pumpkin bowling, punt/pass/kick with a local High School football team, a "Kiss the Critter" fund-raiser (see photo below) and more. Staff adapted quickly to Mother Nature and moved some events indoors as the autumn day turned a little less hospitable.

A Unique Fall Festival Visitor

GDC Staff member Sharon Thomas participated in the infamous "Kiss the Critter" ('Fancy' the Llama ) event, as a fund raiser for the Combined Charitable Campaign.

Along with the fun part of the Festival, the event's Provider Fair invited providers to enjoy the day's fun-filled events with the community, and share information about their services and supports for individuals and families. Parents, guardians, and individual GDC residents spoke with providers from around the state to gather information on community living and other residential supports. Providers came from as far as Toledo, Cincinnati, and Columbus, as well as those surrounding Gallia County.

Susan Engle, GDC Program Director, summed it up ... “Our first Annual Fall Festival and Provider Fair was a great day to remember for our individuals, our staff, and the whole community. While cleaning up at the end of the day, you could hear plans about how to make the event better, and get even more involvement from the community next year.”

National Family Caregivers Month

3. PATHS Central Region Graduates Nine in Westerville

Talk about families and caregiving! – There was a lot of both at the Professional Advancement through Training and Education in Human Services (PATHS) graduation ceremony in Westerville last week, as nine newly-certified Direct Support Professionals (DSPs) received their hard-earned credentials, and were cheered by their support teams. Among the graduates was Destiny Hawkins – whose very name indicates she was destined to be doing this work. Destiny had been a developmental disabilities program participant in high school, and now in her early 20’s, hers is one of many exciting stories represented by PATHS grads around the state.

Addressing the graduation attendees, Destiny presented a short speech including these thoughts:

“I was in the PATHS class with people who provide services for individuals who qualify for disability services ... when I came to the PATHS class I did not have a lot of knowledge about people with disabilities. I have become knowledgeable because my mom helped me with my own disability, and God put wonderful people that work with me in my life. I learned a lot about ways to work with individuals while I was in the PATHS class.”

The Westerville graduates represented the PATHS Central Ohio region, consisting of Franklin, Delaware, Madison, and Union counties, and they each earned a Certificate of Initial Proficiency (CIP). The CIP curriculum includes 60 hours of classroom instruction on a variety of topics including: community living skills and supports; service facilitation; self-determination; documentation; advocacy; and, personal ethics. Course participants also must complete an extensive portfolio comprised of a collection of work samples that demonstrate their skills.

Direct Support Professionals who take this 60-hour course are better equipped to support people in helping them achieve self-directed lives. For this reason and others, PATHS graduates are highly valued in the workforce.

According to Wilma Justice, who - along with Richard Upton - coordinates the Central Ohio Region of PATHS, “This was a time to focus on the graduates, and the differences they can and do make in the lives of others. For example, Destiny’s desire is that everyone be heard and no one be overlooked. She said the course was difficult at times, but she kept going strong. Her commitment paid off, as she is the third self-advocate in the state to complete the course (the two other ladies live in southwest Ohio.) Destiny is now a part-time assistant at Life Builders Day Program where she has numerous friends, and is a great leader and encourager.”

Comments throughout the graduation ceremony clearly showed the impact a focused effort on education can have. DODD Director John Martin handed the microphone to each graduate asking them for their thoughts – one graduate put it this way,

“I can see myself in this field for the rest of my life. I would like someday to become a private provider because if I can make a difference in one person’s life I would feel blessed -- although I plan to change the lives of many.”

And, Ohio Association of Direct Support Professionals (OADSP) Chief Operating Officer, Scott Osterfeld congratulated the graduates in his own energetic way, calling to mind the words of a song, “Are you gonna sit it out ... or dance?” He acknowledged the graduates’ hard work with, “It looks like you all aren’t gonna be sittin’ life out, you’re gonna be dancin!”

(Left) DODD Director John Martin passes the microphone to Esther, who spoke eloquently about how the PATHS training has helped her both as a person, and in her work as a Direct Support Professional.

4. OPRA Fall Conference Hosts More Than 700 Attendees

The Ohio Provider Resource Association (OPRA) Fall Conference, October 25-26 at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Dublin, posted record-breaking attendance with more than 700 attendees, speakers, sponsors, and exhibitors. Speakers included DODD Director John Martin; Patrick Mead, senior pastor at the Churches of Christ in Colorado Springs, CO; and Greg Moody, Director, Governor's Office of Health Transformation (OHT). In addition, each DODD Deputy Director provided a brief overview of work currently underway. (See presentation at <http://dodd.ohio.gov/newsroom/Pages/default.aspx>)

The Conference featured a menu of nine educational tracks for professionals in the provider community including CEOs, COOs, Program Directors, Direct Support, and various other areas. OPRA also partnered with the Foundation for the Challenged, and the Ohio Educational Service Center Association in presenting sessions focused on juvenile offenders within the DD population. These sessions and several others were offered as a result of OPRA member input and interest.

OPRA President Mark Davis and other key staff presented briefings on issues, policies, and special projects concerning the DD service delivery and administrative systems, including how legislative activity may shape OPRA's work in the coming months. Davis commented,

“We are very pleased with the success of this year’s fall conference. I think the exceptional turnout speaks not only to the quality of speakers and good conference organization, but to the strong desire of so many individuals in this difficult economic climate to come and learn about innovative best practices, and engage others in creative conversation. Our goal was to offer a venue that promoted collaboration and substantive thought.”

OPRA hosted more than 700 during the two-day conference.
Attendees were enthusiastic ... one of whom noted,

“The speakers were wonderful! And, the variety of topics was awesome. I will use a lot of the information at work, so it was very practical.”

In addition, during the two-day conference OPRA’s Annual Awards Luncheon honored nominees within several award categories, recognizing individuals who have made significant contributions in the areas of direct service, care, and advocacy for individuals with developmental disabilities.

Awardees included the Haven Hill First Shift Team from Blossom Hill, Inc., in Westlake, earning an Outstanding TEAM award. Nominator and Blossom Hill Executive Director Lynne Urbanski wrote, “The team came together in the last 18 months, most with no previous experience in the field of developmental disabilities. In addition to learning and then performing their job duties at a standard of excellence, they grew from individuals strong in their own right to a cohesive entity, empowered by the group dynamic to provide exceptional care as a single, melded unit. She continued,

“They learned that by recognizing and utilizing each other’s gifts, they are providing better, more consistent care to Haven Hill’s residents, and everyone benefits.”

In the opposite corner of the state, Direct Support Professional (DSP) Bobbie Becker of Resident Home Corporation was recognized by OPRA. Nominator Mary Beth Poulimenos noted, “Bobbie is a shining example of the qualities that we hope for in an employee. If I needed services myself, or needed services for any of my family members, Bobbie is the person I would want. Her dedication to one individual served by RHC has been apparent in her extraordinary support of the young lady's physical and medical needs, daily activities, and adjustment to life after her primary caregiver passed away, unexpectedly. Bobbie has acted as recruiter, advocate, grocery-deliverer, and most important, friend."

5. Annual Ohio SIBS Conference to Celebrate Progress

Click: SIBS Conference Brochure

The Ohio SIBS Conference (Special Initiatives by Brothers and Sisters) provides an opportunity for siblings to learn more about the services and resources their brothers or sisters receive or may be eligible for, and it's coming right up on this Veterans Day weekend. This year's November 11-12 conference at the Columbus Marriott Airport Hotel provides a strong venue for adult siblings from across the state to meet one another, share their stories, and enjoy being with people who can identify with many experiences while growing up.

A Little History

The Ohio State University Nisonger Center has offered support groups for family members of people who have disabilities for nearly 30 years. Under the guidance of Tom Fish, Ph.D., OSU Director of Family and Employment Services, these groups have helped hundreds of siblings share their concerns, gain information, and connect with others experiencing similar life circumstances. As siblings become adults, their concerns and family situations change.

For example, as stated on the Ohio SIBS website at www.ohiosibs.com, "Issues concerning a ten year-old brother are not the same as those concerning a 48 year-old brother. New issues such as the long-term care of their sibling, a sibling's eligibility for programs, and availability of support services are more prominent in the minds of adult siblings."

<http://siblingstories.blogspot.com/>

This year the SIBS Conference also will include an opportunity to visit and learn about Rosemarie Rossetti's Universally Designed Living Laboratory Home in the Columbus area. The home contains state-of-the-art technology and a host of accessibility accommodations. To learn more about this home, visit www.UDLL.com.

Ohio SIBS was one of the first organizations of its kind in the country to focus specifically on the needs of adult siblings, and has served as a model for other state programs across the country, and around the world. To learn more about Ohio SIBS, visit www.ohiosibs.com. ## 6. New Online Resource – Red Treehouse Partnership

www.RedTreehouse.org

The Red Treehouse established its ‘roots’ in a partnership between Ronald McDonald House® (RMH) of Cleveland, Inc., and Ohio Family & Children First (OFCF) and its Family Engagement Steering Committee, with support from many state and local agencies and organizations. OFCF, founded in 1993, is a partnership of state and local government, communities, and families to enhance the well-being of Ohio’s children and families by building community capacity, coordinating systems and services, and empowering families.

At www.RedTreehouse.org , site users will find relevant information to empower families, as well as connections to support networks and community events. It is a resource for families and professionals to promote the well-being of children and young adults, prenatal to age 25.

In 2004, the RMH collaborated with northeast Ohio organizations and families to establish ‘Tools for Today and Tomorrow’ – a program to help families and professionals caring for children with chronic illnesses and/or disabilities access needed information, resources, and support. And now, in 2011, these efforts have been combined as Red Treehouse in order to propel a broader, stronger resource for families, young adults, and professionals statewide.

DODD Family Advocate Peggy Martin has been involved in the Red Treehouse efforts, as has Autism Society of Ohio Executive Director Barb Yavorcik, and they encourage interested individuals and families to visit the site for information. Yavorcik explains,

“The Red Treehouse website provides information and a wide variety of resources to families and professionals for all areas of need – including child development, disability-specific information, education, family concerns, juvenile justice, and recreation/leisure resources. And, the best part is that users can set up a profile and receive information specific to their area of interest.”

Organizations can register online at www.redtreehouse.org to be a part of this exciting new online community.

7. Ohio Public Images Announces 2012 Awareness Events

Ohio Public Images, Inc.(OPI), an information and advocacy group encouraging positive perceptions of people with developmental disabilities, has announced the 2011 'Call for Entries' for their annual Media and Awareness Awards for the period from December 1, 2010, through November 30, 2011. Entries eligible for consideration in this competition must have been published, broadcast, scheduled, produced, or occurred during that timeframe.

The 2011 'Call for Entries' will be posted on the OPI website at <http://www.publicimagesnetwork.org/>

The awards nominations and competition will honor individuals and organizations throughout Ohio who, through their exceptional efforts, have succeeded in creating a greater understanding of people with developmental disabilities. The competition also recognizes outstanding self advocates, elected officials, and employers who champion the causes of people with developmental disabilities.

The Call for Entries details 21 categories for award nominations, and includes a Special Awards category for Employers. Outstanding efforts in this area could include those that foster a positive environment for individuals with disabilities in the workplace; unique or exceptional efforts to train and hire individuals with developmental disabilities for specific employment opportunities; and/or, employers who have partnered successfully with agencies in the community that serve people with developmental disabilities to provide successful employment outcomes.

The OPI awards will be presented at a luncheon on March 19, 2012, as part of the Ohio Association of Superintendents of County Boards of Developmental Disabilities conference. In addition, OPI again will organize Ohio's statewide Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month kickoff event at the Ohio Statehouse, along with DODD and other partners across the state. The 2012 event will be held on Thursday, March 1, at the Ohio Statehouse Atrium.

SAVE THE DATE! THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 2012.
Annual Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month kickoff event at the Ohio Statehouse.
Details as the date draws nearer, in future issues of Pipeline.

The 2012 Awareness Month theme will be announced soon!
The 2011 theme (below) is "Together."

8. 'DODD Gateway' Website, Live at www.dodd.ohio.gov

The DODD website at www.dodd.ohio.gov successfully launched October 31 with an all-new look, and more online services. On the 'DODD Gateway,' (see the yellow key area above) some of the existing features have changed, and many new features have been added to help providers, families, and County Boards as they access information on the site.

Video Tutorials are online at <http://dodd.ohio.gov/Pages/Tutorial.aspx> to assist site visitors in finding the information they need as quickly as possible.
Questions? Contact DODD Support at 1-800-617-6733.

For service providers, new features include: Applying online for provider certification; updating demographic information; viewing information pertinent to the user; and, searching for providers more easily.

PEOPLE FIRST COMPLETES 'CALL2ACTION' FORUMS

Congratulations to People First of Ohio for their successful Employment Forums!

Regional forums representing all People First of Ohio members, were held around the state over the past few months, and these 'Employment Call to Action' meetings were run by self-advocates who served in the role of 'Employment Promoters.' The final forum in the series was November 3 in Sidney, Ohio (Shelby County). All forums were organized by Tonya, Sarah, and Kyle of the Licking County People First Chapter. Each session included a reading of the People First 'Employment Call to Action,' Ohio Legal Rights service (LRS) talking about employment rights, the Ohio Rehabilitation Services Commission (RSC) explaining its employment services, and several local agencies providing information and answering questions about their employment services. People First will use the information gathered from these forums to develop recommendations for policy makers and legislators. For more information contact Sadie Hunter, Executive Director, People First of Ohio, (740) 397-6100.

'PROJECT STIR' TRAINING: STEPS TO INDEPENDENCE & RESPONSIBILITY

Training for self advocates designed to provide the tools to advocate for yourself, connect with others in advocacy, and gain leadership experience – 'Project STIR' – will be held Jan. 30, 2012 through February 2, 2012 at Deer Creek State Park in Mt Sterling, OH. Project STIR is a 'train the trainer' approach that includes small work group activities, role play, and interactive presentations.

The Ohio Self Determination Association (OSDA) is looking for 25 individuals with a disability who have family, staff, or friend to support them during this training. Agencies are also required to commit to providing staff support to assist individuals with local advocacy initiatives when they return home from the training.

Visit the OSDA web site at www.ohiosda.org for more information.

FOUNDATION FOR THE CHALLENGED LAUNCHES WEB PORTAL

Responding to a need for additional resources identified by Developmental Disability (DD) organizations around the state, Foundation For the Challenged (FFC) is launching a new web portal to make accessing help as easy as a mouse click. The new site at www.ffcoho.org will include an area called "The Transformation Station." Organizations can log in, create a profile, and then access tools, information and services to help meet their needs for collaboration, capacity building and communication. FFC is a non-profit organization dedicated to improving quality of life for people with developmental disabilities.

DODD Hotline for Reporting Abuse, Neglect, and other possible Major Unusual Incidents (MUIs)

To report abuse/neglect and other MUI's call toll-free: 1-866-313-6733. Please note that MUIs are to be reported to the local County Board of DD, however, it is understood that there may be times an individual, staff member, or family member may feel it is a conflict -- or that, potentially, a County Board may be involved in the allegation. In those instances it is important to remember the hotline number is there to be used for reporting concerns in these situations.
